The participants of the project are youth and leaders from Poland, Slovakia, Hungary and Turkey. Each group consists of 9 participants and 1 leader. All participants come from small cities with a high emigration rate to larger agglomeration centers. The activities carried out so far in the partner groups prove that the project will involve people who are very interested in the subject of the project, motivated to act and cooperation. Only a few people from the whole group have experience in participating in international exchange projects. Leaders are people who are involved in working with young people on a daily basis and work for our organizations.

The first one is intended to summarize the period of preparation and to determine further activities before the exchange. The main event of the project is an exchange, an international meeting of all project participants to develop the project's objectives based on the preparations made during the preparatory period. For 7 days we will work together, learn, explore the secrets of knowledge and gain new experiences. The direct beneficiaries of the project are we participants. The "Young city" project aims to translate the ideas of smart cities into our surroundings. We want to understand and show others that "smart" does not mean only packed with technologies, but also a conscious, wise and participating society.

Let's show that the term "local community" are not just empty words! Our goal is also to develop recommendations for local authorities and decision-makers, and to share initiatives seen from the perspective of young inhabitants.
