ABOUT THE PROJECT

As part of a one-year project, we want to spread tolerance towards different minorities, bring young people closer to volunteering, to touch on the issues of inclusion of the LGBTQ+ community, the Roma community, the elderly population, homeless people, migrants, refugees, talk about racial discrimination, religious discrimination, sex discrimination and cultural diversity.

We will include environmental protection in the use of everyday tasks and try to use green travel as much as possible. By getting to know vulnerable groups and through work actions, we want to spread tolerance towards minorities. By carrying out past projects, we have gained the experience that work actions and the direct involvement of young people are very useful for acquiring competences, experience and developing self-confidence and self-esteem of young people.

Through volunteering and art, young people are further accumulating life experiences that can also help them enter the labour market. As part of the project, we want to prepare various voluntary actions to spread tolerance, the importance of mutual assistance and solidarity, while building on our own competences and building international bridges among young people. With events through the activities, with the integration of the local environment, through to the implementation of the final event and the dissemination of the results of our project, through online propaganda, we will spread the message of solidarity and the fight against discrimination.

The objectives of our project are: to learn about the concept of volunteering and its impact on the local environment, to learn about volunteering and good volunteering practices from partner countries, to learn about concepts such as: discrimination, hate speech, equality, minorities and cultural diversity, to get to know vulnerable target group (Roma community, LGBTQ community, refugees, migrants, elderly and homeless), to familiarise with youth work and volunteering, to approach volunteering for young participants, to develop the personal competencies of young participants, developing the self-image and self-esteem of young participants, meeting vulnerable groups through our activities, developing competences in organising events and working in a team, getting to know the minorities in Pomurje region from Slovenia whom we will visit and help them through volunteering.

We also want young people to cope with the stress and depression that have plagued them over the past year because of COVID-19 pandemic. With our actions and activities, we will also attract those who want to get to know the new Erasmus+ and European Solidarity Corps Programme.

In our project we want to carry out one youth exchange with the title "WAKE UP EUROPE", where we connected young people from Slovenia, Romania, Portugal, Hungary, Lithuania, Estonia & Slovakia. The youth exchange will take place in the region of Pomurje in Murska Sobota and in Hodoš, which is a border village with Hungary. Murska Sobota boasts the first intergenerational house, which is based on a voluntary organization and is also a city friendly to volunteering. The project involves young people between the ages of 16 and 30, and some group leaders are over the age of 30. We included at least 3 participants from each country with fewer opportunities. Participants face geographical, financial, economic, educational, social barriers and cultural differences.

Our activities include learning about volunteering through practical examples, art, creativity and the fight against discrimination. At the same time, we will spread the importance of solidarity and tolerance towards vulnerable target groups. Through connecting with the local environment, we have created activities that will have a positive impact on young participants and the environment itself. We gathered 42 young participants from different backgrounds and with different views on the topic.

Working methods will be icebreakers, energizers, team/group work, interactive and creative workshops, open space workshops, discussions, evaluation, role playing, informal gatherings, local visits, guest visits etc.

The expected effects are primarily that young people develop their personal competencies and build on their self-esteem. At the same time, we want to encourage young people to more actively participate in volunteering and be a more active part of local society. Through the youth exchange, we want to support the active participation of young people in such projects. We want to offer young people as many new experiences as possible and show them that their voice is heard.

Through youth exchange and the project, itself, we want to encourage active citizenship, active participation in various international projects within the new ERASMUS + programme, we want to stimulate active cooperation in the field of youth and raising awareness of youth work. We want to encourage that young people are heard.
